

Hepatitis B Virus (HBV) is the most infectious target of Standard (Universal) Blood Precautions

HBV is the most infectious bloodborne pathogen known, and infection control precautions aimed at preventing this viral transmission, have also been shown to be effective in preventing HIV and HBV cross-infection.